

Oman ready to invest in Iran's Chabahar port: envoy

He also attached great importance to the tourism, commercial and economic potential of Chabahar, saying that the Iranian port is an attractive area in the region for investment. The ports and maritime director general of Sistan and Baluchistan province Behrooz Aghaei, for his part, said that the competitiveness in transit, and economic and business developments of neighboring countries by using the facilities of Chabahar port - one of the biggest oceanic ports of the world - have great influence on the economic progress of blue economy. On Jan. 25, Iran's Ambassador to Oman Hojjatoleslam Mohammad-Reza Nouri Shahrودي said: "Iranian Embassy in Muscat is ready to extend any kind of support to Iranian private sector in connection with exports to Oman."

